M'CARTHY ARRAIGNS MANNING AND IS CALLED "INFAMOUS LIAR"

Most Exciting Meeting of Campaign at Temple.

APOLOGY WAS DEMANDED

Lee Club Summarily Called the Commissioner to Account.

VIOLENCE WAS THREATENED

Mr. Manning Apologized to the Audience, but Not to Captain McCarthy.

Conflict That Was Imminent

Avoided by Cool Heads.

Each Man Was Surrounded by Friends.

The most exciting campaign made in Richmond for many years reached a stunning climax last night.

Captain Carlton McCarthy, candidate for Mayor, speaking before the Lee Democratic Club, at the Masonic Temple, charged Mr. Chris. Manning, a police commissioner and two other men, with using money for the election of certain candidates for the Board of Aldermen, and attempted bribery.

Mr. Manning was present, and excitedly and repeatedly called Captain McCarthy "an infamous liar."

The scene which followed when the large audience understood the situation, begins a description of the scene.

Every man in the hall was on his feet in an instant, and many were the cries of "Put him out!"

"Put him out!" The crowd was clearly on the side of the speaker, Mr. Manning also had his friends, though they were much fewer in number.

IN SICKENED HIM.

Captain McCarthy had come to the Temple from his meeting at the Academy, and was the last on the list to speak.

He began by stating that he was almost unfit for this meeting. He had been reading Miss Glasgow's novel, "The Circle," and had, on Friday night, gotten to that chapter which describes the last days of the "Army of Northern Virginia." He said he began to think that his fight for the mayoralty had been so poor and insignificant when compared with the struggle of the great men of the past that he felt discouraged. He said he thought it was beneath a soldier who had followed Lee to have to contend with what had been his list in this canvass.

He spoke of two papers, which he said, "one called 'The Times' and the other called 'The Commonwealth'."

He spoke of having "such men as Sam Stephens" to make attacks on him, of the alleged attempts of a certain business and family alliance here to control the Council of the city and get possession of all the public works for the purpose of wringing the people. It was in declaring that this alliance, through Mr. Manning and others named, was using money to elect certain candidates for the Board of Aldermen, and defeating certain other candidates that he was confronted by Mr.

Manning.

EXTREMELY DRAMATIC INCIDENT.

Captain McCarthy had hardly uttered the sentence which contained the name of Mr. Manning when those on the platform heard the short, expressive word "liar." Captain McCarthy heard it also, but seemingly failed to catch the direction from which the sound came. He stopped, however, and asked:

"What's that? What's that?"

"What's that?" he asked.

"Then all saw Mr. Manning coming down the long aisle towards the stage and directly towards that part where the speaker was standing. The latter was then the target of a storm of abuse.

There was comparative silence for the space of probably thirty seconds. Captain McCarthy apparently tried not to see Mr. Manning. He looked over him, with his head turned slightly to one side. But then the crowd got possession of its voice, and a wild, angry cry of "Put him out!" followed. This was repeated many times from hundreds of throats. Some on the stage even forgot themselves and joined in the cry of "Put him out!" It was a veritable pandemonium turned loose.

PROMPT APOLOGY DEMANDED.

Mr. Hill Montague was the first to give utterance to a cry of sound and the one to advise President Davis in calling something like order from the discordant and angry clamor.

But Mr. Montague could not be heard.
President Davis beat upon the table with his cane with all his strength, and cried:

"Let us hear him! He has said that nothing should be done until every one sat down. The crowd was helpless. The statement Mr.

Montague had made that Mr. Manning ought to apologize to the club or leave the hall at once had met their approbation.

But President Davis would not recognize him or let him speak until all took their seats. They had given a demonstration which meant that they would have an apology from Mr. Manning or some one would be hurt. President Davis then made this statement to the crowd in the hope of quieting it.

"I intend to have Mr. Chris. Manning apologize to this club for his language, or I shall call upon the sergeant-at-arms to put him out."

Again he banged on the table for order.
The crowd said that it would have to be quiet or nothing could be done. Every one finally sat down and Mr. Montague was recognized.

MR. MONTAGUE'S SPEECH.

He said: "Gentlemen, I was a member of the committee which secured this hall for this meeting. Mr. Manning has interrupted Captain McCarthy and called him an 'infamous liar.' I hold that his language is an insult to this club and I think he ought to apologize to the club or leave the hall at once. I have club or leave the hall at once. I have nothing against Mr. Manning personally, but I think an apology is due the club from him."

This speech was greeted with a burst of approval.

Captain McCarthy had taken a seat near where he had been standing.

Mr. Manning had also seated himself.
In the front row, when the president had given the crowd under control. It was clear enough that all felt that "it was up to" Mr. Manning next.

This gentleman was certainly very mad.
He was also determined. He had to take a bitter pill, but he swallowed it like a man. Several of his friends had sat down.

HE MARRIES FIRST LOVE AFTER THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

Separated by Lovers' Tiff, Samuel Male Finds His Sweet heart by Telegraph and Weds Her.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 5.—A romantic wedding took place here yesterday, when Samuel Male, a lumberman of West Point, King William county, Va., was married to Mrs. Mary Jane Taven-ner. It is the consummation of a romance that began in England thirty-five years ago. The couple were then boy and girl, and were very much in love. They were engaged to be married, but a cloud crossed their happiness, and in a lovers' tiff, they parted. Male coming to this country, he drifted South and engaged in lumbering, locating in King William county, Va. His sweetheart grew to womanhood, married and came to America, where a few years ago her husband died.

Meanwhile Male married and his wife died.

He recently made a trip North, and while in this section had a telegraphic message, in which he was made aware of his sweetheart's existence, and he was impressed with the idea she was in Albany. He went to that city, found Mrs. Tavenner and they were married.
Mr. and Mrs. Male, after an extended visit here, will return to Virginia to make their future home.

WILL CORRECT THE ILL USAGES

Secretary Shaw Will See That Baggage Inspectors Are More Polite.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Secretary of Treasury Shaw has sent a letter to each of the ladies who recently signed a paper addressed to him, complaining of the ill-treatment and etc., at the hands of baggage inspectors at the port of New York.

The letter states that on account of the petition a circular letter was sent to each clerk asking a more specific statement and the facts upon which the conclusions reached in the petition were based.
The answers indicate the following grievances:

"That receipts bills are not accepted as proof of value; that duties are often imposed upon old clothing; that trunks are emptied on the wharf; that impertinent questions are asked and remarks made which are humiliating."

"The want of definite charges, the Secretary's letter continues, renders it well-nigh impossible to conduct a specific investigation. The Department, he says, will do all in its power to reduce legiti-mate cause of complaint to the minimum."

GOVERNMENT NOT AT FAULT.
The Secretary says he is surprised that the ladies who signed the petition report so little personal inconvenience. Continuing, he says: "If the plan were the property of the United States, very important changes might be made. I have requested that the several steamship companies provide a special room, or that they allow the Government to construct a circular containing suggestions to travelers, the same to be given them as they are leaving our ports, and it is hoped that they will be of assistance in preparing a proper schedule for examination on their return. A deputy will always be in attendance to whom any individual may be reported. Many modifications will be made from time to time as they become practicable."

In conclusion, the Secretary says: "It is the intention of the Department to prepare a circular containing suggestions to travelers, the same to be given them as they are leaving our ports, and it is hoped
on their return. A deputy will always
be in attendance to whom any individual
may be reported. Many modifications will
practicable."

ficially announced here that the Wabash System is the real party in interest in become a member of it. The purpose of the syndicate is to secure the Western Maryland for the purpose of giving to the Wabash a line to tidewater, and it has offered $500,000 for the city's interest.

These facts were brought out to-day at a hearing before the Council and the municipal committee having the matter in charge.

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL.

holm, as in the case at many of the larger capital cities of Europe, and the United States minister has raised his sum chiefly among the diplomatic and consular corps of Sweden and Norway, and among friends of America at Stockholm.

OFFICER FARLEY SHOT BY A NEGRO

He Pluckily Captures His Assailant.

HE HAD ROBBED A LADY

Affair Occurred Just Where Mills Was Waylaid.

POLICE ARE ON THE WATCH

Mrs. Ezekiel Attacked and Robbed of a Chataine Bag on Ninth Street.

The Man Identified as the Negro

Who Shot and Was Caught by Officer Farley.

His Wound.

Acting Sergeant L. M. Farley, of the Richmond police force, was painfully wounded in the foot by a negro named

Daniel Williams about 12 o'clock last night at the mouth of the alley on Eligh Street, between Clay and Leigh.

The encounter occurred within twenty-feet of the spot upon which just a week before, almost to the hour, young Wade Hampton Mills was waylaid and robbed.

Sergeant Farley was so close to the man that he seized him by the arm as he fled.

The negro, who was armed with a pistol, wrenched the pistol from his hand and knocked him down with his club. Although in great pain from the wound the officer held on to his man and managed to get him to the Second Police Station.

After securing the bag, which contained a hand in more than one of the hold-ups and robberies of the past two or three weeks. He is certainly the negro who snatched a chataine bag from Mrs.

H. T. Ezekiel on Ninth Street about ten o'clock last night. It is hard to establish proof in the case of the Mills hold-up of a week ago, but the fact that Mills was attacked, Officer Farley shot and Mr. Ezekiel robbed at the same alley and almost the same spot makes the probability very strong that all were committed by the same man or the same gangs.

MRS. EZEKIEL ROBBED.

About 10 o'clock last night Mrs. H. T.

Ezekiel, who lives at No. 813 1/2 North Tenth Street, was going home with her little boy up Ninth Street between Clay and Leigh. As she passed the alley running through the high street a medium-sized negro man, wearing a light soft hat, darted out of the alley, threw his arms around her and wrenched off the chataine bag that was hanging by two leather straps from her belt.

The belt and its connecting straps were very stoutly made and the negro must have used considerable force in tearing the bag loose from the supporting straps.

After securing the bag, which contained only a small amount of money, he darted back into the darkness of the alley. Mrs.

Ezekiel made her way home with her little boy and the police were promptly notified.

Word of what had happened was passed around to the patrolmen on duty in the Second District and they were given instructions to watch closely the alleys and cross streets in the neighborhood in which Mrs. Ezekiel was robbed.

About 11:30 o'clock Acting Sergeant

Farley, who had been working carefully over the neighborhood in which Mrs.
